OF COURSE,
I'VE BEEN WRONG
BEFORE.

HEY,
I SAID I WAS SORRY!

WELL, I HOPE
YOU CAN SWIM BETTER THAN YOU NAVIGATE, BECAUSE WE'RE LOST!

THEN AGAIN, MAYBE YOU WON'T HAVE TO!

THAT'S A LUCKY BREAK.

FINALLY,
WE'RE SAFELY ON OUR WAY HOME.

HOLD THAT THOUGHT...

NOW
IS THE ADVENTURE
OVER, INDY?

WHEE!

HONEY,
I THINK IT'S JUST BEGINNING.

NEVER THE END!

30

30 Years of

1978

The first minifigures are introduced to the Town, Space and Castle building themes. The first female minifigure - a nurse - is introduced two months later.

1989

Minifigures change their facial expressions! The new Pirates line introduces good and bad minifigures with beards, crowns and eye patches. Some minifigures are even fitted with peg legs and hooks for hands.

1996

Minifigures roam west for the first time as cowboys and pioneers rushed for gold with LEGO Western.

1997

The minifigure comes to life in the computer game 'Panic on LEGO Island.' This marks the first-ever appearance of the minifigure as an animated character.

Did you know that ...

- The LEGO minifigure represents the world's largest population of people! Over 4 billion minifigures have been produced in the last 30 years.

- The body of the minifigure is the same height as 3 LEGO bricks stacked on top of one another and the head is one LEGO brick high.

- It would take 1 billion minifigures, lined up in a single row, to wrap around the Earth's circumference one time.

- The LEGO Company sells 39 minifigures per second - 365 days per year. That's over 122 million per year!

- There are more than 8 quadrillion (8,181,069,500,000) combinations of minifigures that can be made using all of the unique minifigure parts over the last 30 years.

2001

LEGO Studios sets roll out the red carpet, allowing the minifigure to be the star of fan-made movies.

2002

Shovel legs are added to the mix, making it easy to change the height of the minifigure.

J.K. Rowling's characters come to life with the LEGO Harry Potter line.

2005

The minifigure makes its CGI prime-time film debut on Cartoon Network in LEGO Star Wars®: Revenge of the Brick.

The minifigure becomes electrified with the introduction of the light-up lightsaber.

2006

The minifigure gets a new headset with the addition of neon-coloured, rubber EXO-FORCE® wigs.

GO MINIFIG GO!

the LEGO® minifigure

1990

The minifigure ghost is introduced in the new Castle sets, making it the first specialized minifigure.

1993

An island adventure began for the pink minifigures with the new Rarities sets.

1995

Expanding on the specialized minifigure family, the LEGO skeleton is the second specialized minifigure to be created.

The minifigure takes up scuba diving and travels underwater in the Aquanauts line.

1998

Johanny Thunder, one of the best known minifigures, embarks on his first adventure, exploring the pyramids in Egypt.

1999

The minifigure makes its first appearance as a licensed character in the new LEGO Star Wars™ sets. This is the first of many licensed personas the minifigure will take on.

2000

LEGO Soccer produces new minifigures that are spring-loaded for tabletop game action.

Jar-Jar Binks from the LEGO Star Wars™ line is the first minifigure created with a molded head.

2002

Double-sided heads are added so that facial expressions can be changed by simply turning the head.

2003

The minifigure population expands to be more authentic to its real-world likeness, including authentic skin colours and hair styling.

2003

Minifigures Bill Stryker and Sandy McCloud leave the planet and travel to Mars on the Mars Rover.

2008

On its 30th birthday, the minifigure population reaches over 4 billion and becomes the largest population group on earth!

STAR WARS™ BUILDING STEPS

T-22 ARMoured AIRSPEEDER!

The Republic T-22 armoured airspeeder is a fast single-pilot repulsorlift vehicle designed to fly in close, blast Separatist ships and droids with its four rapid-fire ion-beamers and concussion missiles, and then escape to make its next attack run. With a skilled pilot at the controls, a T-22 moving at full speed is almost impossible to hit.
